HONGKONG, OCTOBER 18TH, 1887.

An important document has recently been issued by the Japanese Government-" Instructions addressed to the Governors Cities and Prefectures." The progress of the country since the Restoration is briefly referred to, the dates of the principal Government measures in the nature of political reforms being given. The one fixed purpose that has been kept in view, we are told," has ritoriality clause, and of newly establishing, unswervingly been to strengthen the vitality of the nation, to assert our national rights. to promote the happiness of the people, and to lay a permanent basis to work upon. thereby to bequeath to posterity fine of policy to be forever pursued." For twenty years has this policy been pursued, and " now that the work of the Restoration is so - near its completion that 'only a cartlead of dirt,' so to speak, is needed to give the last finish to the billocks we have been building up" no small injury might be inflicted upon the great work in band should the people be led sastray; consequently the Governors are informed of a general view of the policy of the country, both as to internal and external affairs, and the course of administration to be pursued is pointed out to them. of good results. " And firstly, as to the constitutional system of government to be established, it is very clearly laid down that it is in its origin to rest on rigidly Imparial principles. The constitution is to be granted, not as a matter of right but of Imperial grace. In the information laid one Osman was defrauded of $21.45, but in the evidence of the proscoution that had never been proved. This of itself was fatal to the case, but he did not intend to raply on this alone. He was content to meet this charge on the merits of the case. On the 23rd March defendant entered into prosecutor's employ. He was secured by a bond. That bond was in force now despite any letter of such characters as the majority of the boatmen which the prosecution might bring forward. > A Chinking correspondent writes to the Mercury as follows:-

The steamer is the principal theme of gossip here just now, and all sorts of groundless rumours Inde China Steam Navigation Co.'s Shares-I knew nothing whatever about the steamer, against Chan Ayoung I will give him half of he got but little satisfaction though I obtained some information from him. He informed me that a dispatch from the Vicercy had arrived the day before, ordering the officials of Chungking to investigate and report upon the practicability and desirability of opening the Upper Yangteze to steam navigation and the possible effect upon the country, its trade, &c. He also informed me that a wei-yuen was on his way from the capital, also to investigate and report on the same. He further informed me, that the steamer had gotten as far as Hankow bat would not be allowed to come any farther until permission had been received from Peking. The information concerning the dispatch and the wei-yuen was quite true, but as to the steamer having gotten as far as Hankow, he was doubtless a little out. From what I hear of what is going on, there is good reason to believe there will be a strong opposition from all parties Hongkong Rope Manufacturing Company, Liand that the local officials will oppose her coming. to a man. The guilds who, as is well known, are very powerful are said to have sent up their report disapproving of the affair altogether. In the face of such strong opposition it is hardly to be expected that the Peking Government will grant permission simply to please foreigners. The officials are making a strong point out of the trackers and beatmen concerned. They represent that should the steamer be allowed to run it will take away these people's means of support, whose numbers they reckon at over one hundred thousand; and should this occur they are afraid that these people will create trouble or at least demand support from the officials. That the authorities are afraid of serious consequences arising if the river is open to steamers is, I think, true, and there is some foundation for their fears, as it is no light matter to throw out of employment even half of the estimated number and trackers are, who have nothing to loose but their heads, and even these they do not prize very highly. The above-mentioned wei-yuen has pas-

HONGKONG.

The past week has not been eventful. On the 11th instant William Houghton, late master of the steamer Geslong, charged with pushing a Japanese overboard, thereby causing his death, was committed for trial at the next Criminal | Sessions. At the inquest on the body, held on the 12th inst, a verdict of manslaughter was returned against Houghton. The ganboat Firebrand, which had been despatched in search of the missing gunboat Wasp, returned on the 12th inst., and the gunboat Cockchafer returned on the 15th just, from the same quest, both having been entirely unsuccessful in discovering any trace of the ill-fated vessel. H. R. H. In the Supreme Court, on the 14th instant, Mr. Justice Loach, sitting in summary jurisdiction, gave judgment in the case Wong Afuk v. Hongkong, Canton, and Macao Steamboat Ce. The claim, which was for $970.36 for damage done to the junk On Tak Lee by the steam r Powar in collision, was dismissed with cests, the Judge remarking that the whole story told by the plaintiff and his witnesses was very suspicious. On the 14th-instant, during a quarrel between two hawkers in the Western Market, one of them drew a large clasp knife and inflicted a dangerous wound on the other. A cricket match, "Longs" v. "Shorts," was commenced on the 14th and completed on the 15th instant, the latter winning by an innings and 33 runs. His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Des Your, inspected the Police on the afternoon of the lath instant, and expressed his great satisfaction with their appearance, which he said would be a credit to any colony in the empire. The corvette Cordelia arrived here on the 15th inst. from Amoy. The inquest on the body of the little Chinese girl mysteriously murdered in St. Francis Street, Wanchai, is still in progress, and stands adjourned to the afternoon of the 18th just. inverial quarto. ENNGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN

PRONUNCIATION. An Angle-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, THE Undersigned having been appointed and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are pared to issue Policies of Insurance against Fire here given in extenso. Each and every, word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those yast margina" and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English Agents for the above Company, are prepared to to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which 14 very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable ecoasion

> It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto pages. A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made to Purchasers of SIX or more Copies.

CHARGE OF PUSHING A MAN OVER-BOARD IN HONGKONG HARBOUR.

INQUEST ON THE BODY. The Japanese seaman alleged to have been pushed overboard by Mr. William Houghton, exmaster of the Geclong, was resumed on the 12th The following gentlemen served on the jury :

-Messra. J. Lamke, J. A. Joseph, and E. The following evidence was taken :--

I heard the deceased call for a sampan in a land voice. I called to the quartermuster and usked what the man was doing. The man had begged to be allowed to work his passage to Japan and had come on board that day. Before the quartermaster answered, the decased turned round and said "Mate, I'm going on shore." He spoke in a drunken manner and b gan staggering towards the after-hatch. I told the quartermaster that the ship was to leave directly and that the man was not to go on shore. 'L'in deceased 10,968.40 declared he would go on shore. He said he had had too much of English ships and they were not going to fool him He kept talking, swearing, and said he would go on shore. I said "All right, then, get out of this." I told the quartermaster to get his clothes and send him on shore. He was leaning on the hatch unable to stand and making a noise. told the quartermester to get him out of that athat was no place to make a noise. Honghtonat this moment came out of the cabin. He heard the man talking and asked who he was I said he was one of the new men who was heginaing his games early. The man turned round and repeated to Houghton the same expression about wanting to go on shore. Houghton took hold of him by the arm and shoved him across the deck, and the man being drunk fell across the gangway way and taking it for the sampun the man was going by. The new chief officer was walkgreat importance pending, it is hoped that there will ing along the deck and was a diag about the be a considerable further sum available for appro. Japanese and said he did not think they were a set like this. As I turned round to answer him, will be submitted to the shareholders for the purpose I heard a splash, and said "D—it that man is in the water." We both rushed to the gungway. I saw the man in the water about, six or mium, and the consequent cartailment of the com- eight feet from the ladder. . Houghton was at pany's lines, the income of the half-year shows a the foot of the ladder trying to catch held of bim. I ran on the top of the poop and lowered the ladder down in order to let him get hold of count of claims is moderate, and the sum of l'acle him. He said "That will do; hold on." He man: I then started to come down, and on the way met the new captain who had just-taken command. At that moment the engineers began to work the engines and I eried out "For God's sake stop the engines". When I came back the sampan had gone round the stern and was searching for the body. Houghton was still at the top of the gangway. I did not see him kick the deceased. I have heard the account of the seloon boy. It is not correct with ragard to Houghton kicking the man nor the way he took hold of him. De ceased was a big, heavy man, and he merely assisted him by a push down tho ladder. Houghton stood on the grating of the ladder. When heard the splash I did not see where Houghton was. There was one or two people near the spot. I could not say who they were. It was about a minute after Houghton had pushed the decrused that I heard the splash in the water. I do tot know whether Houghton went down the ludder before the man fell in or after. When went to look over the side after hearing the splash Houghton seemed to have just gone down the ladder. Decrased before he received the push on the shoulders, was standing holding on by the rope. The ship was heavily laden and the ladder was not steep,-about an angle of 25 deg. From the time that elapsed between my seeing Houghton push the man till the time I heard the splash I do not think the man fell in on account of the pash ha received. After the push I saw Houghton still at the top of the ladder and heard him shout "What do you say?" as though he could not bear what deceased said. I could only see the top of the gangway. Houghton was quite sober. 143,201 It 8 have only served with him for six weeks. Deceased was able to stand but was mateady. 3,626 15 2 think he staggered down the ladder. He had 8.339 5 2 hold of the rope, I believe Houghton went down the ladder to try and save the man. I will swear he did not kick him. He was a little put out because this man who had begged his passage had come on board and filled the others with drink, and when he spoke to deceased he stamped William Houghton said-I was formerly Captain of the Geeloug and am now without a ship. On the 29th September at 7.45 p m. I was in the saloon having dinner. The command of the ship was handed over at six o'clock to Captain Thom. There were two graests at the table. All at once I heard a noise on deck. I went out of the saloop door and heard the deceased making a noise and saw him kneeling on the after-hatch. I spoke to him and asked-him-why-he-was-making so much noise. I said this was not a place to make to such a poise and I would not have it. He answered he did not care a G-d-, he was going on shore. I then asked the second officer who he was, as I had not seen the man before. The second officer said be was a man who was working his passage to Kobe. He said he had begun very early. I then told the man to get up and go on shore as the ship was expected to leave every £394,804 2 1 minute. He would not get up, so I helped him up. I gave him a push towards the gangway. Hud the man not been drank he would not have Taels. Lallen down with the push I gave him. I helped ... 215,178.24 him up with one hand and put him on the gangway and he walked to the bottom. He sat on the bottom of the gang way for about a minute or a minute and a half. I was standing on the top of the gangway all the time. All at ouce I saw bim get up and stagger. I could see by the way 5,464.36 he was reeling about that he would fall over-into the water. I started to go down the gangway. When I got on the second step he fell into the water. When I reached the bottom he was out of my reach. At that time the second officer lowered the gangway. I reached out as far as I possibly could and tried to get hold of the man but could not. There was a simpan lying just before the gangway. I asked the sam-Tis. 477,440.84 pan people to get hold of the man. At the same time somebody shouted from the deck in Chineso. I afterwards found it was one of the guests speaking to the sampan people in Chiness. The sampan failed to get hald of the man. The man swam about ten feet forward from the gangway and then came back towards the gang. way. I swung myself out as far as I could stretch, holding on to the rope, but could not reach him. I then saw him sink. That was the last I saw of him. By the Court-When I gave him a push ha fell close to the gangway and I helped him on to 2,830.60 the grating. I helped him with one arm. He was then standing on the grating having hold of the rope. He was able to go down to the bottom without assistance although he staggered. I did 53,192.64 not push him down the ladder. The greater part of the crew were drack that night. We were to go away as soon as the papers came on deck. I heard the man previously calling for a sampan, and I thought the one near the gangway was the one he was going by.

The evidence of the quartermaster and some of the seamon was then taken. Their evidence was to the same effect as that given before the Magistrate, which has already been reported. The jury returned a verdict of manslaughter against Houghton.

Inrecent years, seeing the importance of securing efficient officers for our men-of-war, naval academies were established at Fooebow and Tieutsin. and at the latter port a Government military school has also been opened, where young men can receive the requisite training for the camp.

> the year 1877, the then Viceroy of the Two Kwang. Liu Kun-yi, raised a special fund of Tls. 150,000, and memorialized the Throne that the interest derived from this amount might be devoted to obtaining men of Western learning. In 1880 the ex-Viceroy Chang Shu-shang, and the ex-Governor Yu K'uan, having selected a spot south-east of the provincial capital and distant from it 40 li, within the Chang Chou-neighbourbood, built a school out of the special fund abovementioned. They sugaged instructors and selected the required number of students, who were put to the study of Western languages and mathematics. The expenses for carrying on this institution were defrayed from the interest on the special fund, but as this was limited, and fell short of the demands, the students were taught merely the elementary branches without touching upon the sciences partaining to naval and military warfare. When the memorialist, Chi-tung, assumed the Vicerovalty, he perceived that these students had made encouraging procress, and he therefore altered the name of the school to Po Hsiloh Knan (School of Philosophical Learning). THE CHINESE GOLD FIELDS IN THE AMOOR VALLEY.

Writing under date of the 4th October, the Tientsin correspondent of the Daily Newsays:-The Chinese Government new possesses more or less specific information about the gold fields on the Chinese or southern side of the Amur valley, and there have been some pourpariers during the last few months and again in the last few days, upon the subject of a scientific survey and exploration of the auriforous districts. Nearly all the detailed information about these comes from Russian sources, and each Spring. bands, some small others larger, cross over and settle upon Chinese territory for gold mining and washing. Two years ago a band numbering some hundreds crossed over the Amur at a point a commissariat, scale of pay or slure, stc., and well ordered. The Russian Government, so far, has not resented the killing of the gold seekers, probably on account of outlawry, ad also because shoot the captives one and all.

The auriferous wealth of known districts is certainly vast, and probably incalculable, as the nature of the rock formations favours the supposition that not remote from the washings, and in ascertainable localities, there is bed rock of very great richness. The audiforous bearing ground is extended all along the lines of the Ousari and Sangari, and between the line of the Sungari and the long range of mountains on the Mongolian trontier, running almost North and South. Thus the Manchurian country on three sides certainly, viz :- towards t'in North on the Amur line. - towards the West . . the mountain resources of Kwangtung are already taxed to the lange, and to the East by the lange of the Sunutmost to meet existing demands, and they should gari, may be stated to be a gold bouring country. not impose additional expenditures; but in view Bome of the deposits, especially those near the Tiuman river seem to be of poor quality, altaking, they feel obliged to put forth their most | though worth working, but in very many other strenuous efforts to bring it to accomplishment. parts the accounts given lead one to suppose that In order to achieve this result, there should be the Chinese fields rival or surpass the great Russian mines in Historn Siberia.

The frontier system has nominally been settled, but in reality mostly remains full troops of Italy, a well armed, well cared for, and special body. The killing of Russians, deserters and oriminals though they may be in most cases, and the corresponding shooting of Chinese refugues, mainly of the crininal class also, is not conducive to amicale relations, and some day accidental circumstances of the kind might influence the two nations.
